GERMAN OFFICERS ON TRIAL IN BERLIN

Court Will Hear Charges Coming From Acts During War

(By Associated Press)
Berlin, Feb. 21.—Preliminary proceedings in a number of cases of Germans accused of violation of the laws of war have already begun and progress is being made in the collection of documentary material. Dr. Schiffer, minister of justice, told the representative of a local newspaper yesterday. The minister said that accused persons would be tried at Leipzig by a court consisting of the customary seven judges. German witnesses will be heard in accordance with the prescriptions of criminal trial regulations and witnesses will be examined abroad if they do not care to come to Germany. It was indicated a German examining magistrate would go to other countries to be present at the taking of evidence. Accused persons who do not respond to the summons to appear before the Imperial Court will have to be arrested and German authorities will in any case do everything to extradite proceedings as far as possible. On the principle that each accused would necessarily have to be tried individually, Dr. Schiffer emphasized the fact that the government regarded it "an affair of honor to punish those really guilty." The government, however, was not obeying the Allies' will in carrying out this trial he asserted, but was fulfilling the requirements of any "ordered state and his own feeling of what was just."

ALL BANKS AT MANCHESTER TO FIGHT SHARPERS

All banks in Manchester announced Friday that all Canadian currency and coin, also all checks payable to Canada, will be received subject to the daily rate of exchange. This action was taken because of the unscrupulous action of several sharpers who have been taking advantage of the lax attitude of local institutions regarding the disparity existing between American and Canadian money. It is said that these freebooters have made much profit by the prevailing discounted value of the Canadian currency.

It has become a regular practice for certain individuals here to enter a local bank purchase a draft for $1000 or less on a Canadian institution, at an approximate charge of $850 on account of the difference of exchange favoring this country at the present time, take a train immediately to Montreal, or wherever the bank happens to be located, present the $1000 draft on the bank, request silver payment and then return to the United States and float the silver at full tender value in Manchester and elsewhere.

This practice has brought so much Canadian silver into the city that he banks stand to lose thousands of dollars on coins in their possession today.

FIGHT TO STOP SALE OF GERMAN SHIPS

Hearst Ordered to Furnish Bond.

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Feb. 21.—Associate Justice Bailey of the District Supreme Court today fixed at $10,000 the bond to be given by William Randolph Hearst in his injunction proceedings against the Shipping Board to prevent the sale of the 30 former German liners. Counsel for the Board said the government's only expense in connection with the sale was $30.28 for circulars sent to shipping interests. There was no regular advertising they said. At the request of Government counsel Justice Bailey deferred signing the original injunction until Tuesday as counsel might confer over the terms. The justice also reserved decision on a request of the Board that the steamer Sevanee which has been sold for $2,000,000 be excluded from the order of the injunction.

LOWELL CITIZENS START DIGGING OUT

(By Associated Press)
Lowell, Mass., Feb. 21.—More than 200 citizens, including city officials, bankers, mill agents, merchants, professional boxers, and amateurs, backed up by half a hundred huge automobiles, trucks, loaded by local concerns made up a volunteer army today to dig Lowell out of a covering of ice and snow which has clogged the streets for two weeks. Led by a band of nonstop legion carrying picks and shovels started out at eight o'clock and before noon had cut away tons of ice and opened up streets which had been restricted to traffic except in street car tracks.

WOOD MAKES GOOD HIS THREAT

He Has Opened Stores in Lawrence, Mass.

(By Associated Press)
Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 21.—The American Woolen Co. has inaugurated a system of retail stores at its four mills in this city in an effort to reduce the cost of living for the 15,000 operatives. Staple commodities are sold at a price below that of local merchants who were told recently by William M. Wood, president of the company, that living costs here were higher than they should be.

The company has a central warehouse from which each of the mill stores draws its stock. The warehouse is administered by representatives of the company and a committee elected by operatives of the several mills who co-operate with individual mill committees.

The warehouse is no distributing groceries, shoes, underclothes, sweaters, canned goods, overalls, socks and other staples. The prices it is said are substantially those at wholesale plus a charge for overhead expenses. At present, distribution is in bulk, the workers in each mill dividing case lots. There is no present intention on the part of the company of extending the plan to others of its 54 mills, according to a statement by a representative of the company.

RENT PROFITEERS MUST SUFFER

General Strike Will Follow Refusal.

(By Associated Press)
New York, Feb. 21.—Unless the "rent profiteering" bill is passed by the legislature within six months a general strike of all workmen will have to be called here in violation of all agreements, President Hannah of the Central Federated Union predicted today. "We are willing and anxious to work, we want to live up to our agreements," he said, "but we can not meet the rent increases that are being put through and those that are contemplated on the wages we now receive." The bill urged by Mr. Hannah has been introduced in the Assembly and Senate. It is designed to amend the code of civil procedure so that no action may be brought against a tenant unless the rent sued for is "reasonable." The burden of proof would rest upon the landlord.

Hoover on Railroad.

Herbert Hoover, one of the men prominently mentioned as a possible candidate for the presidential nomination, is strongly opposed to government ownership and operation of railroads. This has been known for some time, and the fact was emphasized by an address delivered by him in New York a few nights ago before the American Institute of Mining Engineers, the occasion being his inauguration as president of that body. But while Mr. Hoover does not believe in government ownership, he is of the opinion that the restoration of the roads to their owners March 1 will not in itself settle the railroad problem of the country. He says this step will simply place private ownership on its "final trial," thereby indicating a belief that if the owners of the roads fail to meet the demands and expectations of the public there will have to be a new deal of some sort to place the country's railroad business on a proper footing.

Mr. Hoover speaks of government control of railroads and shipping as an "experiment in Socialism necessitated by the war," and goes on to point out some of the objectionable features of government operation. He says no scheme of political appointment has ever been devised that will replace competition in the selection of ability and character. "Already," says Mr. Hoover, "we can show that no government under pressure of ever-present political or sectional interests can properly conduct the risks of extension and improvement, or can be free from local pressure to conduct unwarranted services in industrial enterprise."

While there are sincere believers in government ownership, there is no doubt that a large majority of the people of the country agree with Mr. Hoover in his views on this most important subject. The results of the government's experiments in railroading are far from satisfactory. Rates and fares have been increased, but there have also been such increases in operating expenses that the roads have steadily lost money from the day the government took them over. The country wants no more of this business and is relieved by the fact that it is so near its end.

Mr. Hoover says if the railroad companies fail to rise to the occasion and give the public the service it demands at a reasonable cost "we shall be faced with a reaction that will drive the country to some other form of control."

That may be. But the first thing in order should be to give the companies a fair chance, something which, in the estimation of many, they did not have for some years before the war and before they were taken over by the government. They had long been between two fires. The labor unions on one hand dictated the scale of wages, and state and government commissions stood ready to interfere promptly if the adjustment of rates and fares was not to their liking. Under these conditions the roads were up against a hard proposition and many of them were in financial distress.

The government has demonstrated how to run the railroads at a mighty loss. Now that it is to turn them back to their owners it should see that the owners have a fair chance to redeem the situation, something which can hardly be expected if the managements are to be bound hand and foot by rules and regulations not of their own making, and then told what they must do.

The tragic death of a young Harvard graduate on Mt. Monadnock in the great storm of Saturday night and Sunday is a reminder that the New England climate is not to be too greatly trifled with in the winter season. The young man with a companion was on a snowshoe trip to the summit of the famous peak when overcome by exhaustion and exposure. The case is one of the tragedies of an exceptional winter in this part of the country.

The Odd Fellows have demonstrated that they know how to conduct a bazaar and are to be congratulated upon the success of their recent undertaking. The lodge is looking forward to a new home and the proceeds of this entertainment go into the building fund, which is substantially augmented thereby.

It is said that the difficulty in procuring snow shovels in New York is due, in part, at least, to the gospel of "No beer, no work," and that able-bodied men have stood by and sullenly remarked, "Let the prohibitionists shovel the snow." Perhaps they were thinking of the recent outpouring by government agents of "good stuff" into the snow.

A pastoral letter of exceptional interest will be read in all the Catholic churches of the country next Sunday. It is the first letter of the kind to be issued in the last 35 years, is issued by the Catholic Archbishops and Bishops of the United States and deals with a subject of prime interest and importance to all good Catholics and good citizens.

Income tax payers are reminded by Collector Jones of the necessity of filing their reports without delay. There are substantial penalties for failure to do this in time and this timely and kindly reminder should be heeded by those to whom it is directed.

The people of Massachusetts have been "straw voted" into an endorsement of daylight saving. The farmers are against it, but numerically the farmers of Massachusetts don't cut much of a figure and the chances are against them.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Wilson's Way

(From the Philadelphia Record, Dec.)
The President is within his rights in surrounding himself with men whose advice he values and who are in general accord with the principles for which his administration is responsible, but his choice of a pretext for the dismissal of his Secretary of State is, to say the least, unhappy.

Holding A Mirror to Uncle Sam
(From the Commonwealth, London)
Mexico is as much of a problem to America as Ireland is to Great Britain and there are points of similarity in both difficulties which are not flattering to either country. While Europe is pleading for the councils of America, America herself is troubled in the domestic maze which is concerned with Mexico. Two more United States subjects, agents of the International Petroleum Company, have been murdered by brigands in that country, bringing the danger of actual conflict between the two nations much nearer. Mexico is fighting for self-determination, and also for "receiving" precisely that treatment at the hands of the United States that the United States has condemned with such Peck, snuffing oratory when the scene has been Europe and not America. We must also recall that in an early number of the history of Nicaragua, it is more than Pecksniffian; it is cynically hortatory.

Henry Waterson at Eighty
(From the New York World)
The perennial intellectual youth of Henry Waterson is no little associated with age that a public accustomed to think of him without regard to the flight of time will learn with some surprise that the veteran editor is now eighty years old. In years, indeed, he is now one of Webster's venerable men who have come down from a former generation; but in all the attributes for which he has so long been distinguished he is still in the popular mind the picturesque and forceful personality of Cleveland's day or even of Grant's, the last of the old order of American editors, a great figure from the past surviving with his earlier fame undimmed.

It is a rare dispensation of fate, a crowning reward of a singularly eventful life. Here is a man mixing with the great-grandsons of the men of his own generation who as a boy knew John Quincy Adams and has personally known every President of the United States from Pierce to Wilson, who has witnessed at close range the making of more history than probably any other of his American contemporaries in public life, and whose serene eye in its reflection luster on his profession. Times change and personal reputations with them, but the unique place of Waterson and the Courier-Journal in molding American opinion thru half a century of unexampled development is probably secure.

Henry Waterson at eighty years in the land where Ponce de Leon sought the fountain of youth may be said to have realized the Spanish explorer's dream, but with the difference that he found the realm in his inner consciousness.

Mr. Wilson, Mr. Marshall and Mr. Lansing
(New York Sun)

In the first of his three letters to Mr. Lansing the President dwelt upon the constitutional aspect of the secretary of state's course in calling cabinet conferences and obtaining interchange of ideas among the heads of the executive departments. He asserts that "under our constitutional law and practice as developed hitherto no one but the President has the right to summon the head of the executive departments into conference, and no one but the congress or the President has the right to ask their views or the views of any one of them on public questions."

In his second letter the President raises a second constitutional question based upon his failure to call the conference and interchange conducted by Mr. Lansing. He says: "I have to remind you, Mr. Secretary, that no action could be taken without me by the cabinet."

His constitutional theory is that since the President could not act, nobody could act. The Government of the United States stood still until a President general resumed direction and control.

But while the Constitution makes no mention and takes no account of cabinet officers, this is the exact contingency provided for in Article II, Section 1, clause 5 of the Constitution. The supreme necessity for continuous governmental functioning is a matter beyond question or dispute. The Constitution in the place cited determined who shall carry it on when the President cannot act. It will therefore seem to many persons that any complaint of infringement of constitutional prerogative might more justly—as well as more graciously—emanate from the Hon. Thomas R. Marshall, whom Mr. Lansing's course excluded from what may have been his constitutional duties, rather than from Mr. Wilson, whose unbroken tenure of office the cabinet conferences made possible by providing for at least a semblance of continuous government.

To some it may seem that if Mr.

Lansing made any lapse in strict constitutional observance it was not to the detriment of the gentleman who now so roundly condemns him. But perhaps Mr. Lansing did not make his security the first consideration in proceeding as he did. He may have thought—no doubt did think—that the public welfare at home and national prestige abroad were best protected by carrying on business with a minimum of visible disturbance or shock. It is at least pleasant to think that the public interests took first line in somebody's program.

Bolshevitz.

(From the New York Sun)
Representative Sims, the Democratic member of the House from Tennessee who introduced "by request" the monstrous Plumb proposition that the United States Government should make a free gift of the American railway system to a labor union Soviet to be run for its benefit at whatever cost, with the public paying the price, says he will not sign the joint conference railroad report and will fight the compromise bill.

Representative Killebrew of Scotland Neck, North Carolina, who out of his national hatred conceived the vicious tax schemes to make the North pay all the war expenditures of the South, South control of the government, is going to be ousted by Sims to hold him out of the fight in behalf of the railway labor agitators and the Plumb Bolsheviks. Mr. Samuel Compers, of course in arm in arm with Sims and head of the whole shooting match.

Well, let them make their usual noise. The Cummins-Egan bill, as agreed upon in the conference, is going thru without any Bolshevik collusion or Socialist subterfuge. It is going thru because it is what a sane Congress wants, whatever the demagogue Plumb-Sims outfit may say. The railroads are going back to their owners, whatever the Congress-Plumb-Sims outfit does, because that is what a sane American people want.

Mr. Samuel Compers does not know that the American people have had enough of Government railroading, and Representative Sims does not know anybody else does.

Mr. Samuel Compers also does not know that the American people have had enough of the labor union delirium which tries to run the United States Government the way it does a labor union star chamber proceeding but everybody else does.

Representative Sims does not know that the American people have had enough of political parties and political grand boys that take their orders from professional labor agitators and strike leaders; but everybody else does.

Mr. Samuel Compers does not know and Representative Sims does not know, but everybody else does, that it is no longer a consultation which the nation is holding over the labor union party of Mr. Compers and over the Democratic party of Mr. Sims, but a walk.

REASON ENOUGH

(From the Worcester Telegram)

It seems to be a peculiarity of the present cabinet that whenever any member begins to attract the favorable notice of the country, his days in the cabinet are numbered. It has been so from the time that Garrison was forced out of the department by the present day. Away out in New Mexico in the roaring days when the Sierra Grande and the Sierra Bella made Lake Valley one of the great mining camps of the country—no nothing more than a memory—one Mike Dugan was head of the ore gang and maintained his prestige by methods more forcible than polite. One day an unruly subordinate not only gave him a taste of his own medicine but threatened to "kick" Dugan in addition. The foreman cautiously surveyed the big proportions of the unruly one and thus delivered himself: "you're fired! I have no man in me going that I can't kick!"

POWDER SHOWS IN PHOTOGRAPH

Shiny Nose Not Seen by Eye of Camera.

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 20.—Will P. Towles of Washington, D. C., addressing the annual convention of the Photographers' Association of the Middle States here today declared that if girls want to look beautiful in a photograph they must not powder their faces.

He said powder flattens the expression and obliterated the lines necessary to bring out beauty and character when posing for a photograph. "The might look a whole lot better without a shiny nose to the human eye, but not to the eye of the camera," he said.

Miss MacDonald of New York said that "more simplicity and less flattery" were things that would contribute to better photography.

ADMIRAL SIMMS ORATOR FOR CELEBRATION

(By Associated Press)

Philadelphia, Feb. 21.—Admiral Wm. S. Sims, orator at the University Day exercises, of the University of Pennsylvania today, to celebrate the birthday of George Washington, drew morals from the career of the first President and criticized the tendency of Americans to resent adverse comment upon military unpreparedness in the United States. "The missing element in Americanism," said the Admiral, "is that it does not include adequate solicitude for our safety. The government, and to a certain extent, our people, resent criticism of anything American. This is a dangerous attitude that has caused us many thousands of lives and many millions in treasure." Admiral Sims was given the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws.

NEW HAMPSHIRE'S NATIONAL BANKS ARE GROWING RAPIDLY

The number of depositors in national banks in New Hampshire has nearly tripled in the past five years, according to figures made public yesterday by the United States comptroller of the currency. In June, 1910, there were exactly 39,677 depositors in New Hampshire; in November, 1919, the number had increased to 103,817.

New Hampshire leads all the New England states in this respect with the exception of Connecticut, which is only slightly ahead of the Granite state. The average gain of the New England states is exceeded only by the average gain of the Southern group of states, which leads the country, and by the Pacific coast group of states. The group condition of the 55 national banks in New Hampshire was shown, as of Nov. 17, 1919, to be as follows according to the figures furnished by the comptroller of the currency: Loans, $29,407,000; U. The President is said to believe that the senate is against him, and foreign diplomats are against him. In case of a less distinguished patient this would be called paranoia.

General Manager Frank A. Belden of the Rockingham County Light and Power Co. was out today, the first time in over two weeks.

DRY LAND "LIFE PRESERVER"

(By Associated Press)

New York, Feb. 21.—A dry land life preserver is the latest device (to be tried as a means of circumventing prohibition). Two men were stopped early today by a customs guard as they were leaving the Portuguese ship Mormagad and their wicker seats found to be completely surrounded by whiskey contained in the life preservers. Each of the life belts contained about a gallon of whiskey. The men had been on the ship all night playing cards with members of the crew. The liquor was seized but the men were permitted to go their way.

Entertainment at High School
Grand Success.

Every seat was taken and standing room was at a premium at the first entertainment given by the Haven-Parent Teachers Association, at the High School Assembly hall on Friday evening. It was an excellent program and every member was well done and greatly appreciated.

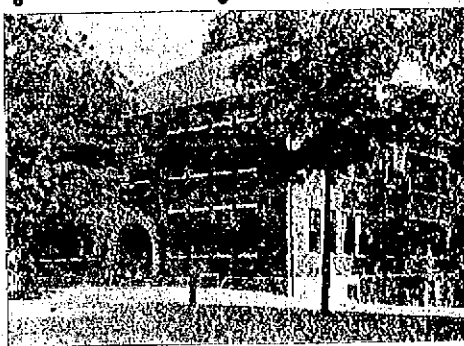

The bulk of the entertainment was by the children of the school who have been well trained by the teachers. The folk dances were especially well trained and for this as all of the numbers the children were in appropriate costumes, and these were made by the young girls of the schools under the supervision of the teachers.

All of the numbers were excellent. The little playlet "The Wonderful Banner" was remarkably well done. Huckleberry Finn was a hit. The violin solo by David Cohen accompanied by Mrs. Florence M. Walker, the reading by Miss McIntire, the dance of Mrs. Harry were present. An entertainment was provided and the meeting was an enthusiastic one and forty more members were added for the association. It was then decided to have a membership drive and Mrs. Walter Woods was chosen chairman. Her assistants were Mrs. O'Brien, Mrs. Anna Craig, Mrs. Fred E. Drew, Mrs. Joseph Adams and Miss J. Spencer Talley. The drive was held during the days of the last week in February, and while the association had a membership of 125 before, it's greatly increased it and it has now about 175 members and it is expected to have it reach the 200 mark next year.

The association was formed to promote and further co-operation between the school and the home and to help the school. Any one interested in the cause is eligible to become a member and it is especially desirable that all those who ever attended the Haven school will become members. Haven school pupils of many years ago are joining to give their aid to build up the association and as the fee is but 25 cents a year, it seems that all who ever attended the school will wish to have their names on the membership list. Many of the former Haven school pupils, both men and women, are now filling positions of trust and responsibility in larger cities, but their hearts often go back to the days of long ago when they were Haven school pupils and it is expected a good number will join this association.

One of the main things the newly organized association hopes to do is

HAVEN SCHOOL

Caswell, and the singing of Caswell, Connover and Gray were all very much enjoyed.

The following was the program—

Orchestra
Arc of Diamonds Folk Dance
Playlet "The Wonderful Banner," including Huckleberry Finn and Fairy Dance
Huckleberry Finn
English Peasant Dance
Intermission—Orchestra
Violin solos—David Cohen
Readings—Miss Agnes McIntire
Interpretive dances—Mrs. Harry Caswell

The following were the participants in the "dance":

Huckleberry Finn's dance—Helen Tibbets, Dorothy Wilson, Grace Kell, Gertrude Dyer, Mollie Shapiro, Anna Goldstein, Frank Callbeck, Richard Priestly, Howard Lee, Harry Halpin, Robley Swanton, Stephen Rose.
English Folk dance—Rosetta Clough, Eleanor Sheehan, Ruth McCaffery, Annie Cohen, Linwood Lee, Howard Lee, Clinton Dow, William Powell.

"The Wonderful Banner"

"Queen"—Ruth McCaffery.
Witch—Walter Stickle.
Brownies—Harold Noel, Charles Pick, Harry Caswell, Basil Meserve, Fables—Annie Goldstein, Ethel Magnusson, Margaret Amazeen, Jennie Grossman.

The playlet, "The Wonderful Banner," was an original one, arranged by the children.

The Junior High school orchestra, Ernest Bilbruck, leader, played during the evening.

Reginald Palmer, in costume, ably took charge of the announcements.

Joseph Port, attired in Colonial costume, assisted the committee at the door.

The net proceeds of the affair will be about $100 and will be used to furnish their new community home as it is hoped the city council will provide money for the rebuilding of the old gun house.

The first meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association of the Haven school was held early in December in the probate court room of the Rockingham county court house. There were nearly 150 persons present and at the gathering about 100 members were secured. The following officers were chosen:

President—Fred E. Drew.
Vice President—Mrs. Harry E. Caswell.

Corresponding Secretary—Miss Agnes McIntire.
Secretary-Treasurer—Miss Martha Farrington.

Executive committee—Miss Jesse McDaniel, chairman; Miss Madeline Toner, Mrs. J. Spencer Talley, John Sheehan, Reginald Goldsmith.

The second meeting was held in the Universalist church and although the evening was stormy a good number to be allowed to have the old "Gun House" on the Haven school playgrounds for a community center for the South End. This building, formerly the state arsenal, stands on land appropriated by the town to the state in 1898 and the arsenal erected to hold ammunition and artillery belonging to the government.

"The Gun House" enclosed the yard were taken down some years ago and no use is made of the old building. The Haven school is located on South street and is a brick structure of two stories. It was built in 1816, and while it was later extensively remodeled and improved, it has not now the equipment of the newer schools of the city. It was the first school house of more than two rooms built in the town, and at the time of erection it was believed by many to be too large and costly a structure for that part of the town. For many years the building was large enough for its number of pupils, but later, each year the number of pupils rapidly increased and for years the lower floor of the old South ward room has been used for school purposes to accommodate the kindergarten and first grade overflow from the Haven school.

The Haven school teachers number ten, Miss Jesse McDaniel being principal. Eight of the teaching staff are in the building and two at the Manning school. The Haven school is not equipped with electric lights, and a few, at least, are badly needed as the hallways leading to the basement are very dark. The pupils of the school have purchased a school Victrola and pictures and casts. Among the pupils are many exceptionally bright and the Parent-Teachers Association will not only be a help to teachers and pupils but will tend to make a fine community spirit in that part of the city.

K. OF C. NOTES

There will be a full rehearsal of the drama "My New Curate," on Sunday after noon at two o'clock. The entire cast was present at the rehearsal last evening. The time of the play is in the year 1876 and it was dramatized from Canon Sheehan's masterpiece of the same name. Mr. Mullen is working hard for the success of the play and everything points to a big success.

The genial general secretary observed another milestone in his journey through life on Friday and the boys cheered him enthusiastically. The memorial mass for the deceased members of the Council will be celebrated on Monday. The member will meet at the home at 8.15.

David Goldstein will deliver his lecture on Bolshevism next Thursday evening. This is a free to the public and a part of the K. of C. construction work. Come and ask questions.

INVESTIGATORS SAY POVERTY NOT A BARRIER

(By Associated Press.)

Boston, Feb. 20.—A student in an American university can be successful in study, sports and social life, even when compelled to support himself throughout his college career, according to the findings of an inquiry conducted at Harvard. Poverty, the investigators report, is not an insuperable barrier to students who have initiative and courage.

The inquiry showed that some of the self-supporting students earned $3000 or more in their four years at the university and that it was not unusual for a student to earn $2000, and well in his classes and be a leader in student activities.

One man who earned the latter sum belonged to four college clubs, rowed on the varsity crew and was among the best known men at college. Another who earned a similar amount was an officer of his class, was elected to three clubs, sang in the glee club and was first marshal of Phi Delta Kappa. A student who earned his way from start to finish and was captain of the university team told the inquiry that the fact that he was self-supporting, did not, so far as he knew, exclude him from any of the club life at the college. In fact every man interviewed, except two, said the self-supporting student was at no disadvantage nor under and social stigma. On the contrary, many stated that college men were likely to admire a man more because he was earning his way.

Some of the occupations which enabled Harvard men to pay their way were those of waiter, tutor, reporter, artist's model, bookkeeper, farm laborer, day laborer, organist, choir singer, clerk, musician in orchestra, editorial writer, librarian, social secretary, worker, dealer, baker, addresser, coach, physical director, the butcher, and steward. The easiest way for a self-supporting student to earn his expenses with a minimum expenditure of time was tutoring or acting as a tutor companion.

POWER AND GAS PLANTS FACE COAL FAMINE

The Rockingham County Light and Power Company and the Portsmouth Gas Company are again facing a coal shortage, owing to the lack of rail shipments, due to the fact that the railroads are hoarding coal for their own use. The situation is not as grave with the big power plant as during the coal strike, when coal was hoarded from the navy yard, but it is serious enough to cause considerable uneasiness. The Gas Company have been short of coal owing to the fact that much of their shipments by rail have been taken by the railroads and there has not been any water shipments. The water shipment by barges from New York have been delayed owing to the fact that the New York public utilities have been getting coal, keeping the barges waiting.

The two companies have appealed to Governor Bartlett who with the other governors of New England were in conference the first of the week on this matter. He has made an appeal to the Director General of the railroad that shipments for these two companies be allowed to come first.

The hard coal situation is normal, although there has been a delay of late owing to the storms, but there is no shortage.

M'CARTHY HAS NEVER WRESTLED HERE

Pat McCarthy a new wrestler to show in this city will grapple with Bill Dryden at Freeman's hall on Monday evening. McCarthy has been wrestling considerable around Boston, and he has had several matches with Kilroy and Kotonen. He is about Dryden's weight and is an aggressive wrestler. Promoter Bill Dow has been trying for some time to get a match between Mike Yokel and Bill Dryden but he has not been able to arrange a match owing to the fact that Yokel has a contract that while he is in New England he will not wrestle without Paulley's consent which George refuses to give. They don't do it. Portsmouth, is has pulled too many good

BASKETBALL

The Manchester High school basketball team will play the Portsmouth High at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium this afternoon at three o'clock. The teams have been rather shot to pieces on account of illness, but they will present their regular line up this afternoon. If they play the way they did against the Beverly High they will come away with a victory, but of late they have been off their games.

Next week the High school will play the Milford High at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening at eight o'clock.

The game between the Girls' High school team and the Girls' team of the Portland High which was to have been held this afternoon, has been postponed to Wednesday afternoon of next week.

This evening the Portsmouth Council K. C. will put a strong team in the field against the Everett Legion, and a fast game is expected. The Council have secured as fast men as they have been able to find and hope to win from the Everett team which is reported as very fast.

The Manager of the Dover Legion team which has been winning a good number of their games, is out with a challenge to the Portsmouth professional and the Manchester team, with the usual line of bait that goes with Dover's idea of sports. Manager Cragen at the present time has no intention of giving Dover a game here, as they would not be a good drawing card after their showing with the Navy Yard team and they would not look good after the teams that are being played. Later he is to make a proposition to play them here with the provision that they will be paid $100 if they win and nothing if they lose and agrees to play under the same conditions in Dover. This seems to be fair enough if Dover is so confident of their team and has any sporting blood.

The fans are looking forward to the Springfield game on Saturday Feb. 23, for of all of the teams that have played here Bobby Vance's Springfield are the fastest. Cragen wants the game and he will not put against it the same line that played at Harvey's Newport team, and the local fans are confident that it is good enough to trim the Springfield five.

The Evelyn Pettit Legion team will play at Dover this evening with the Haverhill Y. W. C. U. team. As the Yvonne 15 they played this team last year and won by one point.

The second team of Building 89 will play the Dover A. C. of this city, between periods at the K. C. Everett Legion team this evening.

An eleven-hour move was made Friday at Manchester by the faction of the republican party opposed to the movement to send a pledged Wood delegation to the national convention from New Hampshire. Protest was made to the secretary of state that six candidates for delegates, pledged to Wood, should not be allowed to so pledge themselves, as they instructed the secretary of state by telephone to enter their names as pledged, instead of writing their pledge. The ballot law commission will pass on the question tomorrow, and in the meantime the party is being printed.

The six are: W. Eastbrook of Nashua, delegate-at-large; William Thayer of Berlin, alternate-at-large; Jesse M. Harlan of Newport and Alfred Stanley of Lincoln, second district delegates; H. L. Grinnell of Berwick, alternate, and John Seamon of Exeter, first district delegate.
